

UK Health Security Agency

Attitudes to the childhood vaccination
programme in parents

Most parents came across information that made them feel vaccines were important for their baby or child of parents read, heard or saw something that made them feel it was important for their baby, or young child to have their vaccines.

74%

This information most often came from official sources (health professionals, the red book, The NHS website or NHS leaflets)

The data is taken from the Attitudes to the childhood vaccination programme in parents of babies and children under 5 years of age survey undertaken in 2022. UKHSA Immunisation and vaccine preventable diseases Division. UKHSA gateway number: 2022652

© 2023 Crown copyright